Told To Be Tough On Democrats

Republicans Will Closely Check Dewey's Speech

By Jack Bell
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(P)—Flying squadrons of Congressional Republicans will urge their grass roots colleagues in a series of Lincoln Day dinners this week to get tough with the Democrats.

No. 1 show among these annual pep rallies will be in Washington, where Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York has been promised a full house will join him Tuesday night in some soul searching about the future of the party.

Nobody here knows exactly what Dewey will recommend in the way of Republican policies.

But it's no secret that the Republicans in Congress—turning on the oratory from Maine to California—are in a fighting mood.

For them, they say, there will be no more Me-Tooing of the Democrats.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader who will take a fling at the political Chataqua circuit, pointed up this view.

No Compromise
"I'm going to tell all the Republicans who are willing to listen to me that there can't be any compromise with the Democrats," the Nebraska told a reporter.

"We've got to come out fighting for what we think is right. For us to simply become a me-too party will leave the people no choice when they go to the polls in the Congressional elections in 1950."

Senator Brewster of Maine, who lists dinner talks at Cincinnati, Sacramento, San Diego and Muncie, Ind., on his schedule for the week, said he is going to urge the Republicans to "get tough with the Democrats."

"We're in the minority in Congress and we can't put over any constructive program while we are in that fix," the Maine senator said. "But we can call attention to the record of the 80th Congress and compare it with this one."

"Be Themselves"
Brewster said he thinks the Congressional battle over Democratic efforts to repeal the Taft-Hartley act has been all in favor of the Republicans thus far, from a national publicity standpoint.

Senator Cain of Washington, who talks at Winston-Salem, N. C., next Saturday, said he is going to tell the Republicans to "be themselves."

"I don't think Republicans ought to go along with Democratic theories that are wrong, just because they think they are popular," Cain said. "We ought to try to make our own theories popular."

To Check Dewey's Speech
Dewey's speech here Tuesday night will be checked closely by Republicans. They are interested not so much because they think that as titular head of the party he will be laying down any overall policy, but because they want to know his future political plans, if any.

More significance is likely to be attached to what is said in Detroit Thursday night by Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan.

As one of those who have been championing a new look for the Republicans, Vandenberg is expected to tell his Michigan constituents not only what he thinks was wrong about the last presidential campaign but what the party ought to do about it.

Large Safe at The Liberty Theatre Blown

Intruders Failed To Get Into Part Where Money Was

The Liberty Theatre, 105 West Fifth street, was visited by intruders for the second time within four months, early this morning. The large safe in the theatre was "blown" but the thieves failed to gain entrance to the inside of the safe where the money was kept. The Liberty has been broken into and the safe tampered with several times in the past four years, but the visit today was the earliest "return engagement."

Powdered dynamite, Gold Medal brand, was used to pour inside the safe door and was "set off" by a lighted fuse. So strong was the charge that the facing on the outside door was ripped off and the safe hurled more than 15 feet into the ceiling beneath the balcony. The plaster inside the door was blown down the stairway leading to the basement and scattered upon the floor the length of the basement or for nearly 60 feet.

Door Encased In Ceiling
The steel door was encased into the ceiling and so terrific was the force when it struck it cut the lathes in two and buckled the stairway, which will make it necessary for major repairs to be made to the stairway. The metal casing around the safe was also ripped, but not enough to make it possible to open the inside door so the money could be removed.

The thief or thieves however, did find between two and three dollars in the desk of Leroy Nichols, manager of the theatre which was taken. Nothing else in the office was tampered with.

Benny Carter, Negro janitor at the theatre, discovered the robbery about 8:30 o'clock this morning when he went to work. He notified Mr. Nichols, who in turn notified the police shortly after 9 o'clock.

Gained Entrance Through Window
An investigation revealed the thief or thieves gained entrance by breaking a window in the men's rest room on the east side of the theatre. The window opens into a blind alleyway.

Police found a container of the dynamite on a window sill and some fuse which they are endeavoring to trace. Several contractors who use this type of explosive have been contacted and they are endeavoring to check and determine if any of their supply has been stolen.

The theatre was entered in a like manner on October 11, 1948 and at that time the intruders chiseled and knocked the combination from the safe and failed to gain entrance.

Robbed North Wichita, Kas. Post Office
WICHITA, Kas., Feb. 7.—(P)—Three bandits robbed the North Wichita branch postoffice early today and officials said they escaped with a large amount of postal notes and money orders of larger denomination.

Robert L. Davis, supervisor of the station, said three men followed him for about a block as he was walking to work and forced him into a backroom of the postoffice, where the safe is located. Davis said the men forced him to open the safe, which contained the postal notes and money orders.

When Davis refused to open an inner safe, a small strong box, the men slugged him, he said.

Their First Robbery
Capt. R. B. Price, head of the detective division, said it was the first robbery of a postoffice in Wichita.

Price said the money orders could be cashed for a total of $12,500. He said the total loss probably would run about $15,000.

The three men fled after slugging Davis.

Kansas City postal authorities were advised immediately and investigators from Kansas City were expected here today.

Catholic Leader In Hungary to Hear Sentence Tuesday

By Endre Marton

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Feb. 7.—(P)—Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, the 56-year-old leader of Hungary's 7,000,000 Catholics, today awaited the verdict of a people's court on charges of treason against the Communist-dominated government.

Presiding Judge Imros Olthys and four lay-jurists who heard the dramatic three-day trial of Cardinal Mindszenty and six others accused with him, are to hand down their judgement tomorrow at 9 a. m. (2 a. m. CST).

If found guilty the cardinal faces possible death by hanging. The verdict will come 44 days after the cardinal was jailed. Besides treason he was accused of spying and black market money deals. His arrest followed a long and bitter battle between Cardinal Mindszenty and the government, over state seizure of Catholic schools and other issues.

Denounced by Red Press
The Hungarian Communist press strongly denounced the cardinal as the court weighed its verdict. The official Communist newspaper Szabad Nep termed the trial a "defeat for the west" in the cold war.

The paper, in a front page editorial, described the cardinal as a "wretched worm," a "frightened scoundrel who abandoned his principles and aims, and is scared only for his miserable life."

Prominent Hungarian Catholics meanwhile voiced skepticism about the whole proceedings.

A group of important and fervent Catholics told this reporter they were simply unwilling to acknowledge that Cardinal Mindszenty was anything other than a strong defender of his faith.

They said they felt there must have been some sort of trick, and declared they did not believe the "confessions" uttered by the cardinal in court.

Prayer for Wisdom
The cardinal, alone in jail, had his "last word" before the Peoples Court Saturday at the conclusion of the trial.

He prayed then "May the Lord give wisdom to the court when they pass their sentence, which may help a settlement at home and abroad."

He pleaded partly guilty but denied he had ever been "the enemy of the Hungarian people."

Whatever the verdict, Cardinal Mindszenty or his lawyer may appeal within three days. If there is an appeal, the papers are forwarded immediately to an appeals court, which must return its verdict within a week.

A convicted defendant, with permission of the People's Court, may also appeal directly to President Arpad Szakaszi for clemency.

Members of the press, chiefly Hungarian journalists, who covered the trial, were told to leave the court building at 1:30 p. m. (Please turn to Page 2, Column 6)

Release Youth On $2,500 Bail
CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., Feb. 7.—(P)—Thirteen year old Roland Ray Scott, charged with the fatal shooting of his 14-year-old uncle, Henry Jackson, Jr., while rabbit hunting last Tuesday, was released on $2,500 bail this morning. Prosecuting Attorney Elmer Peel said today.

Charges of first degree murder, with alternative charges of second degree murder and manslaughter, were filed against the boy after Sheriff E. F. Claxton of Pettis county said the youth had admitted the killing. He has been held in the juvenile section of the county jail since last Wednesday.

Roland is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Scott of Holland and had reached the third grade in school.

The charges originally were filed in magistrate court, but the case was certified to the circuit court. Judge L. H. Schut is circuit judge and ex-officio judge of the juvenile court.

The prosecuting attorney said the case would come up for hearing sometime during the March term of court which convenes March 7.

To Re-wed Long Lost Husband

BRISTOW, Okla., Feb. 7.—(P)—Mrs. Ella Mershon, 67, said today the husband she lost 42 years ago but sent away recently after they found each other, would return tomorrow to remarry her.

The husband is Berkeley Burris, 72, a Plainview, Tex., old age pensioner.

Mrs. Mershon said he would arrive at 11:15 a. m. and that they would be married as soon as possible thereafter.

Only last week-end Burris returned to Plainview, after several days here following their reunion. Mrs. Mershon said they had decided their limited incomes made it impossible for them to take up life again together.

But she changed her mind, saying "I want him back." Mrs. Mershon's Bristow neighbors were reported raising funds to put them together again.

The couple was separated in 1906 when Burris left his wife to seek work in Oklahoma. They lost contact and each came to believe the other dead. Mrs. Mershon remarried and reared a family. Her husband died three years ago.

They learned each other was still alive when Burris recently encountered Mrs. Mershon's younger brother in Texas.

GOP Seems Near Agreement Only on One Issue

By Jack Bell
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(AP)—Republicans, splintered by their worst factional fight in years, seem near agreement on only one issue—most of them don't want Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York to run for president a third time.

Beyond that point they are mounting their horses and riding off in different directions. At least if the recent you're-another session at the Omaha national committee meeting means anything.

That session produced concrete evidence that most members of the party's controlling machinery blame Dewey for losing the election.

Even Hugh D. Scott, Jr., the national chairman who was hand-picked by Dewey at the June nominating convention, joined in the criticism of the New Yorker's type of campaign.

Scott said flatly before he won a 54-20 vote of confidence to keep his job, that Dewey would not run again.

Must Decide for Himself
That's something that Dewey will have to decide for himself, but many who supported Scott came right out and said they don't want Dewey again.

For about the first time in recent years, the Republicans exposed their disagreement on a number of things.

They can't agree, for instance, on whether they should have a full-dress national conference to draft a platform for 1950. Scott wants one. Most of the Republicans in Congress don't. It's up to a 14-member committee to decide.

Most of the Republicans say they are through with "Me-Too" as a campaign slogan. Some of them want to put big government in the eye, big government for economy and yell for free enterprise, but others say the party will never win until it offers more than the Democrats.

This split seems to have been chalk-marked by the battle Scott made to keep his job.

Scott Claims Progressive Element
On the basis of votes Scott lays claim to the backing of the more progressive element of his party. His opposition was rallied by two scarred veterans of many political battles, Harrison Spangler of Iowa and Carroll Reece of Tennessee, both former chairmen.

By and large, Spangler, Reece and their cohorts had age and experience on their side. Scott, a candidate for 62-year-old Roy E. Dunn of Minnesota. Scott, 48, was a young man among many elders despite the shadowy presence in his corner of that legendary figure of Pennsylvania politics, Joe Grundy.

Grundy Picked Scott
State Senator Grundy, 86, last month, is credited by the Democrats with picking Scott for chairman when, as they tell it, Dewey called on Pennsylvanians to furnish a man for the job.

Scott found his support mostly among states where Republicans dominate their voting or where they have the best chances.

He won solid two-vote support, for instance, from California, Colorado, Connecticut, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Nebraska, New York, Pennsylvania and Vermont.

In the border states, where the Republicans have to fight for anything they get, Scott had the solid support of delegates from Kentucky, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Rhode Island. He lost the backing of representatives of Maryland, Missouri and Arizona.

Scott split with his critics the votes of four states—Indiana, Massachusetts, North Carolina and Oregon.

Time Will Tell Meaning
Southern committee members—whose states haven't gone Republican in a con's age—gave most of their backing to Scott's opponents.

Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas were anti-Scott. Florida, Georgia and Virginia stuck with the chairman.

Whether all this means anything in party policy developments, only time will tell.

As national chairman, Scott is one of the chief mouthpieces of his party. But he has only one vote—as a Pennsylvania member of the House—in writing what is likely to be the record on which the party stands or falls in 1950—the actions of its members in Congress.

Ham Slice Can Lend Itself to Many Events

No. 10 of a series of articles on "Cooking the Modern Way" by Edalene Stohr, Home Economist and Lecturer for the National Livestock and Meat Board.

MENU
Broiled Ham Slice
Cherry Peaches
Broccoli
Baking Powder Biscuits
Butter or Margarine
Perfection Salad
Chocolate Devil's Food Cake
Milk
Coffee

Of all the meats, a ham slice might be called the most "tailored." That's because it can be cut to fit, or suited to, almost any occasion.

For the small family of two or three a thick juicy ham slice can have as many long range possibilities as a whole ham does for the larger family. For the larger family it can be cut to any thickness to fit the needs of one meal.

The primary advantages of a ham slice are in its favor, the fact that it is almost solid meat, you can have the ham slice cut as thick as you desire for any use, and the fact that it can be cooked by any of three different ways. These three ways are broiling, broiling, and pan broiling. The one you choose will depend on the thickness of your ham slice and your facilities for cooking it.

Roast Thick Slices
The very thickest center-cut sections—sometimes as thick as 3 or 4 inches—are best when baked, or to use a more correct term, roasted. To roast a thick ham slice, place it on a rack in an open shallow roasting pan. Although "use no liquid" is one of the rules for roasting, ham slices are often cooked in liquid.

Over the broiler with fruit juice or cooked in milk to add a different flavor. Place in a 300° F. oven and roast until done, about 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Baste occasionally during the roasting with the fruit juice.

Broiling is for ham slices ranging from 3/4 to 2 inches thick—thinner ones should be panbroiled. Slash the edges of the fat so that the piece will remain flat during cooking. Place the meat on the broiler rack about 3 to 4 inches from the heat source, and broil until lightly browned on the top surface. Turn and brown the other side. The total cooking time for a 1-inch slice will be approximately 16 to 20 minutes.

Broil Garnish, Too
While you're broiling the ham slice is a good time to cook a fruit garnish to accompany it. You might broil banana sections with butter or margarine and broil, or center halves of fresh or canned peaches with cherries and broil those. You should have no trouble finding an appropriate fruit garnish to go with ham.

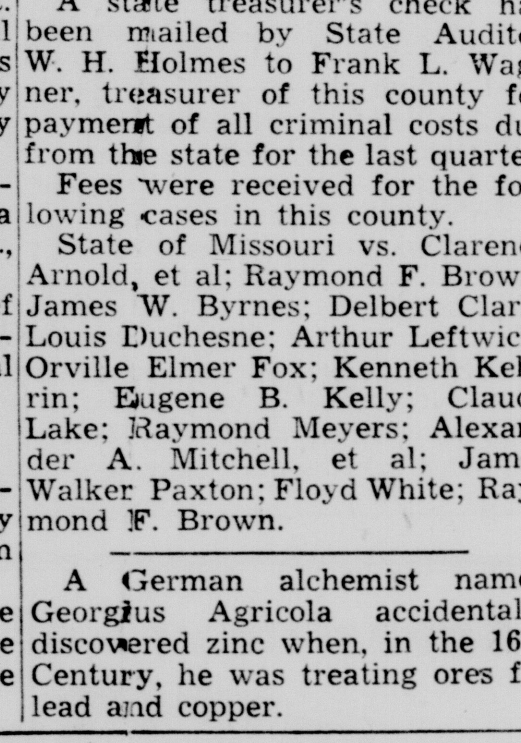

Panbroiling is done in a heavy frying-pan and is distinguished from panfrying by the fact that the fat is poured off as it accumulates during cooking. Slash the edges of the ham, so that it will remain flat, then cook over low heat. Brown on one side, turn and brown on other. Turn occasionally until done. Panbroiling takes only about half as long as broiling, in this case about 8 to 10 minutes.

County Treasurer Receives Cost Fees
A state treasurer's check has been mailed by State Auditor W. H. Holmes to Frank L. Warner, treasurer of this county for payment of all criminal costs due from the state for the last quarter.

Fees were received for the following cases in this county: State of Missouri vs. Clarence Arnold, et al; Raymond F. Brown; James W. Byrnes; Delbert Clark; Louis Duchesne; Arthur Leftwich; Orville Elmer Fox; Kenneth Kelly; Eugene B. Kelly; Claude Lake; Raymond Meyers; Alexander A. Mitchell, et al; James Walker Paxton; Floyd White; Raymond F. Brown.

Two Colorful Movies To Be Shown Here By Local Implement Dealer

A colorful program which will include the showing of two feature films in color and in sound has been arranged for farmers and their families in this community. This program, which will be held on Friday, February 11, is sponsored by Harvey Bros. Implement company, local Minneapolis-Moline farm machinery dealer, and will be held in the Liberty Theater.

Special invitations are extended by the local dealer to farmers in this area inviting them to bring their families and their friends to enjoy the program which, according to the sponsor, promises to be a gala event. The two movies are said to be of special interest to agricultural audiences.

One of the films, entitled "This Heritage of Ours," features the great episodes in the growth of America where freedom has always been a sacred heritage. In a dramatic way, it takes the audience on a tour of places that now live in history, including many made famous by the Oregon Trail, the Mormon Trail, the camp where gold was discovered in '49, and the Alamo, where a handful of brave men fought a great battle for freedom. This film also stresses the part agriculture has played in making America the great nation it is.

The second film, entitled "Reasons for the Seasons," is a story of the seasons, why they occur, and how they affect the lives of all living things on earth. This film is of particular interest to farmers who depend so much on the seasons for their livelihood. Colorful sequences also show how the modern farmer with the help of modern machinery is able to cope more effectively with the demands made by the seasons on him and his work wherever he may live.

In announcing the showing of these films, which are scheduled to begin at 1:00 p. m., Harvey Bros., owners declared that the program that has been prepared will include other events certain to be enjoyed by the entire family.

The president, Mrs. T. A. Huffhine, presided over the meeting and introduced Mrs. D. P. Dyer, leader of the worship for the February meeting. Mrs. Dyer's subject was, "The Silent Hour."

The special feature of the meeting was given by Mrs. W. D. Barton whose subject was "China, Twilight or Dawn."

A luncheon was served in the church dining room by the following committee: Mrs. R. E. Taylor, Mrs. Amanda Close, Mrs. E. B. Sparks and Mrs. S. A. Woodard, with assisting hostesses, Mrs. R. W. Rapp, Mrs. S. P. Harlan and Mrs. A. M. Harlan.

At 1:00 o'clock the meeting was continued with the program in charge of Mrs. P. L. Strole entitled, "A Trip to Hawaii." By way of introduction Mrs. Strole read an interesting letter from a teacher, a friend on the island of Hawaii. Mrs. Strole then exhibited two lunch cloths, handpainted cups and other articles made of tortoise shells which were very pleasing. Many of the articles were Mrs. Strole's and were gifts of her son, who made several trips to Hawaii during the war, and others were things brought from Hawaii by S. A. Woodard, who was stationed there during the war.

Mrs. Strole then introduced Albert Zurcher, Sedalia jeweler, who spent three years in Hawaii. Mr. Zurcher showed colored films of Hawaii giving the history of each picture. He also explained how the tortoise articles were made and how the lunch cloths were painted.

All then sang a Hawaiian song after which the meeting was closed with a prayer by Mrs. H. U. Campbell.

Extensive Progress By Pettis County Farmers Past Year

Programs Bring Improvement In Varied Activities In Farm Life

Pettis county farmers made progress in 1948 in working on the solution to many of their problems. Home improvements were also included in the progress. The extension service, it is estimated reached directly and indirectly about 1900 of these farm families. It is impossible to give definite figures on some of the following items. The Extension Service is happy to see this progress toward a higher standard of living.

Credit is due other services and organizations in helping in this program. Some of these are farm organizations: P.M.A., Civic clubs, Veterans Teachers, Farmers Home Administration, Vocational Agriculture instructors.

Some of these improvements that have been made as given below. Many figures are higher than those given.

Approximately 35,000 tons of agricultural limestone were applied on farm land to grow more and better legumes. The tonnage of fertilizer used this year was in excess of any recent year, if not all time. The tonnage is about 3500. The analysis has been higher in the use of more ammonia nitrate, 45% phosphate, muriate of potash and such fertilizers as 3-18-9 as compared to 2-12-6. More sweet clover was turned under as a green manure crop. Much of this is being used in a 2 year rotation of oats, sweet clover and corn.

Eighty nine farmers had 215 soil samples tested for calcium, acidity, stable organic matter, phosphate and exchangeable potash. The average of these samples was 3% organic matter, 37 pounds phosphate and 137 pounds exchangeable potash.

Fine Results By Fertilizing

Some typical results that may be secured from right use of fertilizer are: Roy Pettis produced 100 bushels of corn per acre; Ernest Jones harvested 74% more wheat—7.4 bushels by the use of 125 pounds of 32% ammonium nitrate; Thomas Ream secured 75.4 bushels of oats on fertilized land as compared to 47.9 without fertilizer; Fred Fajen secured 20 bushels more oats by applying fertilizer; Max Elliott harvested 7 extra bushels of wheat by fertilizing.

Water management plans have been made on 76 farms. This included terrace outlets, diversion terraces and terraces. Conventions in operation has been of primary consideration. Records show 102 terrace outlets (14 miles) were constructed of proper width. Most of these have been seeded to adapted grass. At least 55 miles of terraces have been built. This correct figure perhaps is nearer 65 miles.

Two contractors assisted greatly in getting this work done.

Three concrete structures—Missouri Soil Saving Dams—were constructed.

One farmer who had turned terrace water into a public road ditch corrected this mistake by constructing an outlet, after deep gullies were forming in the outlet end of the terraces.

Records show that 7 farmers ran guide lines for contouring planting. Some of the principles of water management were learned by 98 farmers attending instruction school, each of a one day's duration. Two farmers purchased farm levels.

Certified seed was used by 762 farmers and 76 used chemicals for weed control. Many of these used 2,4-D.

Approximately 23,000, it is estimated, used Korea lespedeza.

Dairying Improved

One hundred twenty five producers of dairy projects had 983 cows bred by the artificial insemination program. Six bulls of the three major breeds were used.

Thirty one dairy heifers were exhibited at county show.

Sixteen dairymen enrolled in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association completed a year's record on their cows July 1—the close of the testing year. The highest ranking cow produced 563.8 pounds fat.

Improvements were made in quality of dairy products.

Two hundred egg producers received a substantial increase by selling eggs on a quality graded egg basis. One buyer reported one of his customers stated he received $60.00 more this year by selling his eggs on grade.

Definite improvements have been made in housing and handling of hens through installation of dropping pits estimated at 210—and using built up litterers. Improvement have been made in the yarding of flocks either by the single yard or the 2 lot system.

Sixty two farmers used sodium fluosilicate in a bait to control grasshoppers, protecting 1045 acres.

Spraying of Cattle

Ninety three farmers hired commercial sprayers to spray 3000 head of cattle 2 to 4 times to control flies. This included dairy and beef cattle. D. D. T. was used in this program. Also many cattle owners especially dairymen did their own spraying.

Seventy five farm families used red squill rat bait to control these rodents.

More than 100 farms purchased registered sires to maintain or improve the quality of hogs, beef cattle and sheep. Also at least 50 purchased registered females.

A cooperator secured an average daily gain of 1.78 pounds in 223 days on 36 calves without grain. He also demonstrated that selection of breeding gilts on the basis of weight at weaning time is a good practice.

Increased numbers of livestock producers are shaping their programs to use pasture to better advantage, i.e. earlier in the spring and later in the fall. One hundred sixty farmers used sodium fluoride to remove round worms from hogs.

Eighty farmers secured 5,700 for seedlings and planted for erosion control, windbreaks and farm woodlots.

Sixty farmers had their ponds stocked with bass, bluegill and crappie.

One farmer planted Multiflora Rose around his pond.

642 boys and girls learned improved practices of agriculture and home economics in 4-H club work.

201 4-H club members raised or bought and handled 679 head of livestock—cattle, hogs and sheep.

28 4-H poultry project members raised 2310 birds.

221 members made 857 articles of clothing for their own use.

132 members learned new ways of cooking food.

41 members preserved 4131 quarts of food.

109 members raised 920 bushels of vegetables.

142 members worked with wood products and rope in making 491 articles.

64 members made 195 articles for use in their bedrooms.

24 members planted 188 varieties of shrubbery to improve their home grounds.

22 local radio programs were presented by 4-H clubs.

186 members learned how to judge products.

300 4-H members exhibited some of their work at one or more events.

404 4-H club members and leaders participated in holding 22 Rural Life Sunday services.

18 4-H members participated in district judging.

23 members participated in state and national events.

Trophy On Exhibits

Pettis county received the trophy for outstanding livestock exhibits at the Missouri State Fair and the trophy for having been selected the top blue ribbon county in western Missouri.

2 members received scholarships valued at $100 each.

56 learned how to cooperate in work and play by attending camps with other members.

Eight clubs sent relief packages overseas.

1 girl made 25 clothing articles for her college wardrobe saving $3.00.

A baby beef project member cleared $141.00 on his calf which had been on feed 263 days.

Another livestock project member netted $856 from his purebred sow and litter project.

In addition to providing vegetables for family use, one member also sold $75.00 worth of vegetable products.

Excellent Work By Clubs

37 clubs made exhibits at Achievement day and over 900 women viewed the program. 165 gar-

New clubs were organized at Green Ridge and Brown.

Club women used 908 practices learned in the unit on tailored finishes. They made 8199 garments, 17 pair of gloves and 32 purses.

Practices adopted from the unit on convenient kitchens were 7 "U", 5 "L", and 5 corridor type kitchens, 5 lap boards, 5 verticle partitions, 1 sliding panel, 9 step shelves, and 3 roll tables. Other home improvements were 60 sinks, 98 cabinets, 16 pitcher pumps, 41 water systems, 51 installed electricity, 31 bathrooms and 57 closets.

800 of the club members used D. D. T.

4 clubs have reconditioned building to use as Community centers.

30 clubs sponsored 4-H clubs and all clubs (38) helped the 4-H program.

Six plays were presented at the dramatics festival in March.

Extension club members canned 71,985 quarts of food, stored 3,268 bushels, cured 64,809 pounds and froze 65,398 pounds of meat and froze 10,369 pounds of fruits and vegetables.

Food leaders demonstrated three dish meals at their clubs with many new practices being adopted from these two units.

More than half the club members used the basic seven as a guide to meal planning.

236 gardens were fertilized.

Water management plans were laid out on 48 farms, 65 terrace outlets were built on 21 farms and 21 miles of terraces were built on 24 farms. This amounted to 64% of the outlets and 38% of all the terracing done in the county in 1948.

Eleven association members did some of their own work including 8 outlets and 8 miles of terraces.

A soil saving dam, a drop inlet and 3 septic tanks were built with 5 more tank locations staked.

A total of 39 soil samples have been submitted for tests by 12 members.

Over 2,800 tons of lime were spread on these 50 farms which compares favorably with 35,000 tons spread on the 2500 farms in the county. Actually it is 4 times as much per farm.

Similarly, 470 tons of fertilizer were used on the 50 farms as compared to an estimated 3500 tons for the county. This is nearly 7 times the county average.

Two hundred sixty acres of sweet clover was plowed under on 12 farms.

Thirty two members raised some hogs and 24 have made plans for clean ground. Ten who raised their pigs on clean ground this year produced 15.5% more pigs than last year and the pigs went to market 30 days earlier than the pigs of 13 producers who raised theirs in old lots.

A pond has been built at Marvin Goodwins that will provide water to all 5 of the crop fields where the Goodwin dairy herd will be pastured during the year.

Five members were included in the 12 folks in the county who kept poultry records in cooperation with the Extension Service this year.

A total of 50 farm buildings were built or remodeled including 3 new dairy barns, 2 new loafing sheds and a new beef cattle barn.

Interest was also high in home improvement with plans for remodeling or for new homes being drawn for 24 families. Four more homes are to be rebuilt soon and will require plans.

Eighty Attend Meet on Dairy Production

Stressed Pettis County Adapted Well in Dairying

Eighty Pettis county producers attended the dairy production meeting held January 21, in the Court House, in Sedalia. This meeting was under the direction of the agricultural extension service.

The County Extension Agent, who was in charge of the meeting, pointed out that Pettis county is well adapted to the dairy business. In addition to the accessibility to good markets, other advantages are a lot of all weather roads and long grassing periods.

Most of the morning program dealt with artificial insemination. Leo Hoehns, a local dairyman reported on his experience with this program, praising it highly. In three years he has raised more than 20 heifers and has enlarged his herd from 10 to 20 cows. Some of the heifers sired through the artificial insemination program are now in their first lactation and are giving a good account of their breeding. Victor Miller in charge of the insemination work in the Sedalia area reported a substantial increase in the business and asked for the cooperation of the members in getting cattle in not later than 9:00 a. m. He reported that during the past three months that calls had increased 80% over the same period a year ago.

Increase The Average

Warren Nordyke, manager of the breeding farms at Springfield stated the average Missouri cow produced a little over 180 lbs. butter fat per year and that the first cross daughters of the sires used on the farm have averaged 240 lbs. fat. Second and third generation daughters averaging more.

Last year the daughters of the "proven" bulls used in the associations in Missouri averaged 475 lbs. fat.

M. J. Regan, Extension Dairyman, University of Missouri told the group that two herds in the state have been using artificial insemination for 10 years and results are proving satisfactory. He also discussed the Missouri Law on Bang's disease and mentioned some of the proposed changes. Mr. Regan said many herds are kept free of the disease by careful sanitary measures and by removing animals that react to the blood test. Other owners successfully combat the disease by the above methods plus by calvehood vaccination. He stated that he did not believe in vaccination of older cows.

In the afternoon, Associate Agent Vaughan, discussed some phases of balanced farming as practiced on some dairy farms. Balanced Farm plans for three dairy farms in Pettis county were shown and discussed. Some of the features were plenty of spring, summer and fall pasture; next he pointed out, is the necessity to provide ample hay.

Mr. Regan followed with a discussion on feeding dairy cows and general herd management. For best results he recommended such as corn, oats, and barley and wheat. Corn should not be ground fine and the others ideally should be crimped or rolled. These grains need a high protein feed to get a balance and minerals and salt.

Efficient Use of Feed

For good health and efficient use of feeds, Regan said that the cow's first stomach must be kept supplied with active molds, yeasts and bacteria to act on the coarse feeds that the cow eats. A certain amount of sweet material must be in the cows feed to keep these organisms working vigorously. Grasses, some non-legume hays, sudan

Report on Health Camp By Delegate

(By George R. Curry, Georgetown Club)

On September 16, 1948, I went to Camp Hawthorne as a delegate on the health program. This portion of the camp was sponsored by the Kellogg's Food Company of Battle Creek, Mich.

Mr. Kruse took the three delegates from Pettis county and the two delegates from Benton county to the campsite. However, he did not remain to share our pleasures for the next few days.

A few miles before we reached camp, we stopped and climbed one of the fire lookout towers which are used by the Forestry Dept., to spot fires in the timber. Upon completion of the climb of about one hundred and ten feet we became eligible for membership in the Order of the Squirrels and were subsequently initiated and given membership cards.

When we reached camp we registered and were assigned to cabins. The cabins were divided into four sections. My cabin was in the Mark Twain group.

After we were settled in our lodging places, we went to the beach and prepared our evening meal in form of a wiener roast. After eating we had a group singing fest and then returned to the campsite for a movie.

The following morning we had breakfast at seven o'clock, after which we were numbered in groups for the purpose of helping in the kitchen. After we were numbered we were divided into tribes of wildlife origin, mine being the Fur Tribe. The remainder of the day was spent in discussions, demonstrations and physical fitness tests.

In the evening we went on a boat ride aboard the Gov. McClure. We had taken a sack lunch with us and did not return until about nine o'clock.

Saturday was spent in a similar manner with tests, demonstrations, and discussions, followed up by a barn dance in the evening.

On Sunday morning we had church services and after a noon meal we were met by the Home Demonstration Agent from Benton County who had come down to take us back home. She brought us as far as Lincoln, where we were met by Mr. Kruse who brought us in to Sedalia.

The three days seemed to pass very fast, but we did have a very enjoyable and education trip. I was enlightened in the views of 4-H health and 4-H health standards that I passed on to the members of my club by giving an oral report at the October meeting.

and the grains mentioned above will provide the necessary sweet material. But as an extra good measure he recommended feeding 4 ounces of yeast twice a year.

Mr. Regan said he thought it will be several years before dairy production can possibly catch up with the demand for dairy products and recommended Pettis county dairymen to keep their heifers out of their best cows sired by high production bulls. He then gave some suggestions on raising and feeding the calves.

POP Goes the QUEEN

THE STORY: Sin Conover's trick memory, which retains facts still they're said aloud, wins a vacation for herself and her husband, John Henry, at the swank Las Dunas resort in Azusa, Calif. After assigning the Conovers a cottage, Gayner, the hotel clerk, immediately puts in a call to a Mr. Barselou.

CRICKETS chirruped like traitors every place but where he stepped. Anglin stopped for a minute to listen, hoping the bugs would shut up behind him, but silence hung behind him like a curtain across the grass and palm trees in the rear of the Las Dunas.

His boots were making too much noise on the flagstone path. Better take to the grass, though he was pretty sure he'd shaken them off for a little while, anyway. The wound in his shoulder had opened again. It burned with a steady flame and the blood trickled down over his hand. Odell had been smarter and faster than he looked.

It was dark here in the canyon back of the hotel—a graveyard of shadows because no breeze stirred. He was the only shadow that moved. It was a good thing the cottages were white stucco under their red tile roofs. They strung out in a straight row for him to count. He couldn't read the numbers because the moon hadn't shown up yet and he was afraid to use his flashlight.

The seventh cottage. Anglin got dizzy suddenly. He'd probably lost too much blood and then he was tired to start with. Tired and nervous. But his shadow continued to march along the wet velvet grass.

"Nothing better go haywire," he growled. He wanted to get rid of the whole thing and clear out. The tenth cottage. It was dark, too. He veered over to the opposite side of the walk. Just four more to go and he could deliver the goods and vanish. Be good to rest for a long time.

The 13th cottage and the next one ought to—He froze as a bat flapped skittishly by his broad-brimmed hat. Crickets, he was jumpy. But why shouldn't he be? It wasn't any piker stunt to play two hands in this game. Both Barselou and—But he knew where the Queen was holed up. That was all that had kept him alive today.

A H, here it was. He stepped confidently up the flagstone walk to the blue wooden door. From inside came the murmur of voices and a little light seeped through the Venetian window blinds onto his dirty leather jacket. Anglin was a squat man with skin as weather-beaten as his clothes. He braced himself momentarily against the white stucco of the porch and shook his foggy head. His calloused hand felt a smear of blood when he withdrew it.

The ornate door handle felt cold to his grip. He squeezed it and stepped into the small living room. Darkness here. Some light fell in a lopsided rectangle from the open door to the bedroom. Beyond that somewhere, a man was singing in an untrained voice, "Beautiful dreamer, wake unto me."

An invisible woman spoke from the bedroom. Her voice was startled into a squeak. "Who's that?" His clumsy fingers found the night latch and twisted it home. The noise made the woman say again, frightened, "Who's that? Is somebody in there?"

She was as jumpy as he was. But whoever she was this trip she ought to be better trained than to yell like that. He told her in a low voice, "Shut up, for the love of Mike."

She let out a gasp as he moved into the patch of light on the carpet. Anglin could see her now, standing still as a rock before the imitation ivory dressing table. Her face that watched him with wide green eyes in the mirror didn't have any more color than the table top. The brush she'd been punishing her red hair with dropped from her hand to bounce softly on the thick shag rug. The haze of dressing gown over lingerie didn't conceal her long tan legs much and the sight of them made him forget the pain in his shoulder briefly, very briefly.

"What the heck!" said the man in shorts. "Oh, Johnny, be careful," the girl quavered. "He might shoot."

WELL, he hadn't expected to know her. The big boy used different girls for different operations. This one was a looker like the rest. But why didn't she catch on? The big boy had funny ideas about the value of women in work like this.

"Get out," she whispered. "Get out or I'll scream." "Quit it," he said, leaning wearily against the door jamb. "It's okay. Where is he? I got it for him."

"If you don't get out—right now—I'll call the police." What was she talking about, anyway? "You're from 'Dago, ain't you?"

She nodded. "Then it's okay. Now for the love of Mike get him."

Her glance went for the white French phone beside the bed. Anglin put his hand in the pocket of his leather jacket, so when she looked back at him, he held the little black automatic carefully in his horny palm.

"I don't know what you got in mind, sister. But I ain't got much time. I want to finish the job and get out."

Behind the closed bathroom door, the man began to sing again. "Beautiful dreamer, queen of my song..." Anglin looked at the woman and gestured with the gun.

"That him?" "That's—my husband," she said dry-throated, her greenish eyes hypnotized by the weapon.

"Get him." "What are you going to do?" He felt dizzy again as the room swam around under his wide hat-brim. This should have been the easy part and instead—"Get out of my way," he husked thickly. He smelled her perfume as he brushed the woman aside and rapped the gun muzzle against the door panel.

Anglin couldn't wait that out, so he threw the bathroom door open and stood staring.

He saw a young fellow, not too big but stocky and his body was still damp from the shower and faintly pink from a vigorous towel-drying. He wore blue rayon shorts with an elastic waistband.

"What the heck!" finally said the man in shorts.

"Oh, Johnny, be careful," the girl quavered. "He might shoot us!"

SOMETHING was screwy here. The advance arrangements had been specific about the cottage number. The only unknown had been the when and he'd waited that this morning. He squinted his wind-burned face and did his best to think. It was generally a different girl, but the man should have been... Was this more of Barselou's bunch? He gave up trying to think.

"I'm sorry," he mumbled and began to back toward the living room door. "Reckon I made a mistake."

The stocky young man moved forward as far as his wife's restraining arm. "What's this all about? What's the answer?"

"Never mind, son. I—"

"Wait a minute—that looks like blood—"

Anglin ran out of patience. "Whaddya expect me to bleed—milk?" he snarled.

The young fellow looked grim. "I don't like the looks—"

"Nobody does, son. My mistake. I'm sorry I scared you and your missus. If you got any bright ideas, let them stop here and now."

He groped in the dimness behind him and found the night latch, unbolted the door and opened it. The two were staring at him from the lighted bedroom.

Anglin started to say something else but couldn't decide what there was to say, so he closed the door and stumbled off the porch onto the soundless grass.

Stories of Blue Ribbon Clubs on Their 1948 Work

Pettis county had 14 Blue Ribbon Clubs and three others receiving honorable mention. Leaders or members of each of these clubs have written a story of their 1948 work which they did to achieve this honor. The stories you will find are from Walnut Grove, Van Natta, Striped College, South Abell, Smelser, Oak Grove, Longwood, Lamine, Hillview, Georgetown, Flat Creek, Bunker Hill, Bethel, Prairie Ridge, and Elder Ridge—Oak Grove.

The first of the stories to be run the next few weeks follows:

The Lamine Blue Ribbon 4-H Club Story

"Be a Blue Ribbon Club" was the goal set by the members and leaders of the Lamine 4-H Club at their January meeting in 1948. To achieve this goal they knew they would be required to have good monthly meetings, good attendance, 100 per cent project completion and records turned in on time.

Thirteen members under the leadership of Glenn McMullin, president and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Johnston as community leaders, chose their projects and project leaders early in the year. A program for each monthly meeting of the year was planned and written in the 4-H program books, a copy of which was given to each 4-H family.

Projects carried by the girls were Clothing led by Mrs. Stanley Gieschen and Mrs. Harold Rugen, and Home Furnishings with Miss Frances Arnold as leader. The boys chose Market Pig and Gardening projects with H. J. Johnston as leader. Altogether, thirteen project meetings were held. Twenty-one garments were completed in Clothing, twelve articles in Home Furnishings, and several bushels of vegetables were produced by the two gardening club members. The farm members of the pig club cared for 5 market pigs for a total of 1200 pounds of pork. The girls exhibited 16 articles, at Achievement Day. They participated in the dress revue and the clothing and home furnishings judging contests. Sharon Johnston won a place on the Home Furnishings judging team which contested at the State Fair. Sharon also attended the 4-H conference at the American Royal as one of the delegates from Pettis county.

Safety is stressed. Safety was chosen as a supplementary activity. Chester Knox was appointed chairman. Each member made a survey of accident hazards around his own home and eliminated at least one of them. A safety program consisting of short talks and eight demonstrations was given before the Lamine P. T. A., July 14th. Mr. Kruse and Miss Dilsaver were present and showed two safety films.

Some work was done in health. Yardsticks and score cards were kept and a special program emphasizing good posture and care of the teeth was given at the November meeting.

Several members and their parents attended Demonstration and Play Day at Liberty Park in June. The Lamine Club was represented at three 4-H Council meetings and at all but two training meetings from which the officers and leaders received a great deal of help in carrying out their meetings and project work.

The Lamine 4-H club presented a radio program May 1st. All members took part. The Rural Life Sunday program was given Sunday evening, July 1st at the Lamine Baptist church. Rev. Kenneth Davidson, the pastor, assisted. Delores McMullin, the club's song leader, had charge of the music at both programs.

Parties and Contests There was fun too, for the boys and girls. Games and contests led by J. E. Arnold followed each regular meeting. There was a Valentine party at the school house in February and an egg and wicker roast at the home of Miss Frances Arnold in March to which everyone in the community was invited. There was a swimming party at the McMullin branch in July and the annual Christmas party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson.

Members who did not hold an office but who took an active part in all of the club work were, Mary Ann Arnold, Junior Ross, Helen Rugen and Joann and Donald McMullin.

Much credit is also given to Mildred McMullin, reporter, for good work in reporting monthly meetings and sending news items to the paper, and to Linda Johnston, secretary, for keeping all records in an orderly way and sending them to the county office on time. Much credit for a successful club year also goes to Glenn McMullin, president, for well conducted meetings and to all the leaders who gave their time to help the boys and girls in their club work.

By Mrs. H. J. Johnson.

Sold to Swift for $1,883,823.473.00

Quick Facts on Swift's Business in 1948
Total Sales $2,361,114,041
Swift's average sales dollar was spent as follows:
For Livestock & Other Agricultural Products	79.8 cts.
For Employees' Wages & Salaries	9.6 cts.
For Supplies	4.0 cts.
For Transportation	2.0 cts.
For Taxes	1.5 cts.
For Other Business Expenses	1.9 cts.
Total spent out of each average dollar	98.8 cts.
Remaining as Earnings for Swift	1.2 cts.
Total	100 cents

Because your business of farming and ranching is so closely related to our business of meat packing, we believe you are interested in an accounting of Swift & Company's operations in 1948. On this page we tell you how much money we received, how we spent this money, and how much we earned for services performed.

The past year was reasonably profitable to both producers and Swift & Company. That's the way it should be in America. A fair profit to producers means better living and insures a sound program on farms and ranches. A fair profit to business in cities and towns helps maintain purchasing power and markets for the products which you and Swift have to sell.

In 1948, Swift & Company paid nearly two billion dollars for agricultural products. We processed and distributed nationwide this output of your land and labor... cattle, calves, hogs, lambs, dairy and poultry products, soybeans, cottonseed, peanuts and other products of agriculture. For these we paid out 79.8 cents from each dollar we received from the sale of our products.

HOW THE DOLLAR WAS DIVIDED

In America a business is operated to serve the public, and to earn a profit for its owners. In 1948, Swift earned $27,889,210 net profit. That was an average of 1.2 cents out of each dollar we received from the sale of our products. Who got the balance of 98.8 cents? It went to people who work directly in the livestock-meat industry, to additional thousands in other businesses.

1. The major cost of meat packing is the purchase of livestock and other agricultural products. Swift paid $1,883,823,473 to farmers and ranchers last year. You, the producers, received 79.8 cents out of each average dollar we took in from sales.
2. Swift & Company employs 73,000 men and women to provide the services producers, retailers and consumers demand. The employees look to their company for regular, gainful employment. They earned $226,154,019 in wages and salaries in 1948... or 9.6 cents of each average sales dollar.
3. Supplies of all kinds—sugar, salt, spices, containers, fuel, electricity cost $94,809,928. These supplies are furnished by other businesses. Our purchases from them created work and wages for many more Americans. This took 4 cents of our average sales dollar.
4. Transportation charges are a necessary item of expense, and a large one, too. Meats are moved an average of 1,000 miles from farm and ranch to market. During 1948, in distributing our products to cities, towns and villages, Swift & Company spent $46,702,457 for transportation by rail and motor. This amounted to 2.0 cents of each average dollar of sales income.
5. Government expenses—fire and police protection, national defense, roads, social security, public education, etc.—are all paid out of taxes. Swift's tax bill for the year was $35,220,291. The Federal Government and each of the 48 states collected some of this amount. And taxes were paid in hundreds of municipalities where our plants and properties are located. Federal, state and local taxes took 1.5 cents of our average sales dollar.
6. More than 200,000 retail store operators look to Swift for a regular supply of meats and other Swift products. We help build retailers' trade by developing nationwide consumer markets. Our research laboratories and test kitchens also help create consumer demand. Depreciation, interest and other expenses common to every business, add to this total. All these cost $46,514,663 or 1.9 cents of the average dollar of sales.

That's the story of the division of Swift's average dollar received from sales. Of that dollar, 98.8 cents went to other people or businesses. The 1.2 cents left is our return for processing, marketing and distributing meats and other products for millions of American families. Out of this return—or net earnings—our 64,000 shareholders, men and women who invested their savings in the Company, received dividends which took 7/10 of a cent of the average sales dollar. The balance of 1/2 cent was retained to provide for future needs of the Company.

Management's Role in Modern Farming
by O. R. Johnson
University of Missouri, Columbia

Better farm management can give startling results. If managed as well as the best 20% of the farms are managed, output of the average acre could be doubled. In most areas the output of pasture land could be increased three or four times. Our cleverest feeders get 60% more out of their feed than do average feeders. Production per cow, sow or hen could be increased 50% to 100% if animals and methods as good as those used by the top 20% of our farmers were employed by all farmers.

There are two ways of achieving higher production per acre without increasing costs. The most practical method is to raise the level of management efficiency without increasing present working forces per farm. The other method is for the farm family, with modern power and machinery, to farm more acres. This second method has obvious limitations. For there would not be enough acres to go around without eliminating many farm families. Do we want larger farm units and reduced farm population? Many think not.

However, many farmers are now faced with adopting either one or the other of the above methods. Farmers must meet today's high operating costs and still maintain living standards without forcing prices beyond the reach of the average consumer. Consumers cannot be expected to support, indefinitely, inefficient farm output by paying the high prices such inefficiency demands.

Nebraska to Swing South This Week

Title Rests on How Well Huskers Can Hit Enemy Baskets

By Skipper Patrick
KANSAS CITY, Feb. 7.—(P)—Chances of the University of Nebraska winning the Big Seven conference basketball championship will depend on how well the Cornhuskers can hit the basket on enemy courts.

Six Games Away From Home
Coach Harry Good's Huskers, who beat Colorado 45-43 last Saturday for their fourth straight league victory against no defeats, must play six of their remaining eight games on the road. Their victories over Kansas, Iowa State, Kansas State and Colorado all came at home.

Nebraska swings south this week to meet the Kansas Jayhawks (2-3) at Lawrence Saturday, then play second place Oklahoma (5-1) at Norman, Okla., the following Monday before returning home to meet Missouri Feb. 21.

Nebraska was the weakest looking team in the league's annual December tournament, beating only guest team Harvard.

But the Cornhuskers have shown remarkable improvement the last six weeks.

Claude Retherford, veteran guard, has averaged 15.2 points in Nebraska's four Big Seven starts. Center Milt (Bus) Whitehead, who at 6-feet 9-inches is the tallest athlete in Nebraska history, has an 11.7 average. He was a weak scorer last season.

Improvement in Play
Improvement in the play of half a dozen other holdovers, plus the addition of sophomores Joe Malleck, 6-5, a transfer from J. Sterling Morton Junior College of Cicero, Ill., and Bob Pierce, 6-6½ center, have given the Cornhuskers considerable squad strength.

Nebraska's victory over Colorado (2-4) was enlivened by a wild skirmish involving players and fans after Anton Lawry of the Huskers and Colorado's Carr Beermann were ejected for fighting in the last minute of play. Order was quickly restored by officials.

Only two other league games

Off Week For Missouri
Oklahoma plays the first of two games with Oklahoma A&M in Norman Friday. Missouri has an off-week.

Missouri's 40-34 victory over Kansas State at Manhattan was a damaging blow to the defending champion Wildcats' campaign. The return to the lineup of Clarence Brannum, all-star center last season, failed to pay-off.

Brannum played earlier in the season with a Peoria, Ill., AAU team. He got only three points without the services of its ace, forward Dan Pippin, who is off the squad pending a final report on his scholastic status.

Minors Have Last Laugh

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(P)—The major leagues, which laughed when the minors tried baseball after dark in 1930, will play all most one third of their games at night this season.

Except for a wartime lull the total has mounted steadily ever since Larry MacPhail first turned on major league lights at Cincinnati in 1935.

The American league, which didn't try the arcs until 1939, will play 199 night games. The National league will play 179. Both are records.

Of the 16 clubs, only the Chicago Cubs of the senior circuit don't have lights in their home park. The Cubs get a taste of the late hours, however, with 25 night road games.

The electric bill will be the highest in St. Louis. The Cardinals have 43 night games, most in either league, and the Browns 36. Washington is high in the American with 41, a drop of two from its 1944 high.

Both leagues open on April 18 and the first night games come the same week. Washington has one scheduled for April 22, its second home game and the St. Louis Cardinals have one April 23, also their second home appearance. The seasons close October 2.

Six-inch Putt And Mangrum Wins at Tucson

Is Leading Money Winner; Sets New Course Record

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 7.—(P)—Lloyd Mangrum, Chicago, sank a six-inch putt on the El Rio club's 18th green yesterday with a careless pendulum swing. That nonchalant stroke did the following:

What All It Did
1 Won the former U. S. National Open champ $2,000 first prize in the $10,000 Tucson Open golf tourney.
2 Made him the leading money winner to date in 1949 with a total of $5,755.
3 Set a new 72-hole El Rio course record of 263-17 under par.
4 Made him the first player to lead the event from start to finish.

Al Smith Is Second
Al Smith, a newcomer to the pro circuit from Winston-Salem, N. C., finished five strokes behind to win second prize of $1,400.

Frank Stranahan, Toledo, O., shot his fourth sub-par round of 68 for a total of 269 that made him the leading amateur of the tourney — two strokes better than Tulsa's Skeet Riegel — and tied him for third place with Johnny Bulla, Pittsburgh, Pa. Bulla won $1,000; Stranahan a silver plate.

Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa., was fifth with 270. Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, California two-time winner and heavy favorite, tied Riegel for sixth with 271.

Defending champion Skip Alexander, Southern Pines, N. C., picked up after nine holes of the final round.

Information For Veterans

Many original GI term insurance contracts of World War II veterans living in and around Sedalia will expire in the next twelve months. W. F. Fidler of the Veterans Administration said in urging them to consider plans for renewing or converting their policies.

He said the National Service Life Insurance which ex-servicemen acquired while in the armed forces is limited to an eight-year term. Those who entered service in the months prior to and just after Pearl Harbor will reach the expiration of the date of their insurance in 1949 and early 1950.

Fidler said these veterans, who will receive notices from the VA prior to the date of expiration, may renew their term policies for an additional five-year period upon expiration of the present term. Premium payments for this renewed insurance will be at a slightly higher rate to compensate for the veteran's increased age.

In addition to the option of renewing the term insurance, veterans will have a choice of six different forms of permanent GI insurance to which their term policies can be converted. Term insurance issued on or after Jan. 1, 1948, is not subject to renewal under present laws.

Full information on renewing or converting NSLI may be obtained through the local VA office at 511 South Ohio, Sedalia, Missouri.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—When the gratitude train was in Paris loading its cargo for the United States, a woman, obviously poor, came down to the Gare D'Orsay with a package.

"This is a very small present," she said, "and I should not do this. The Communists would not like it."

"You see," she explained further, "I am a Communist. But last winter when my children were so hungry the Americans helped them. They gave milk and flour and didn't ask what political party we belonged to. Now I want the Americans to know we appreciate their help."

That incident illustrates, more eloquently than editorials or speeches, the fact that bread cast upon the waters comes back in hundredfold dividends, plus the further fact that so many congressmen failed to realize regarding UNRRA and other American relief — namely, that it does not pay to play politics with empty stomachs.

Merry-Go-Round
John L. Lewis' bargaining position in the coal industry is being hurt by the "unusual" winter weather. Because most of the east is having a mild winter, coal stocks are now up about 58 percent over last year, giving the nation more than a 60-day stockpile. This means Lewis won't be able to tie up the country easily when his contract negotiations open this spring.

"Muley" Bob Doughton of North Carolina, chairman of the House ways and means committee, is blazing mad about the "packing" of his committee with six new Democratic liberals — so mad, in fact, that he has indicated to friends he will give the president's four billion dollar tax request an extended deep freeze in his committee.

President Truman has told visitors he will move very slowly in reshuffling the cabinet. No further changes expected before the budget is passed by Congress.

American Ambassador to Moscow, Bedell Smith, has his eyes on becoming commander of the First Army at Governors Island, New York.

End of Small Business Committee
After 30 days stay of grace, the senate small business committee has quietly passed on to where the good committee often go. It ceased to exist. Its authority to operate simply ran out.

However, it did not go on to the limbo of forgotten things. For a few hours later Democratic senators held a post-mortem behind closed doors. Senator Jim Murray of Montana, who has always fought for small business though his own millionaire holdings amount to big business, appealed to his colleagues to revive the committee. He was joined by Senators Claude Pepper of Florida and Brien McMahon of Connecticut.

But for every senator who championed the small business committee, two stood up against it. They pointed out that fair-minded Senator Burnett Maybank of South Carolina had appointed a fine subcommittee of his banking and currency committee to handle small business — which is true. However, Murray contended that a subcommittee cannot operate with the same independence and forthrightness as a special, independent committee.

Also, the Republicans, under Nebraska, did a good job of running the small business committee and Murray, calling attention to this past record, pleaded: "Letting the committee die might be used against us politically."

"How much good did it do the Republicans?" came a voice from rear of the room.

No Power to Pass Laws
The trouble with the special small business committee, argued South Carolina's Maybank, "was that after it got through with all its hearings, it was still helpless. It had no authority to legislate."

"If you really want a special committee on small business," snapped Senator Spessard Holland of Florida, "make it a standing committee so you will have power to make legislation."

Holland argued that the special committee not only couldn't legislate, but that other committees paid little attention to it. He cited the small business committee's report on steel which he had referred to on the senate floor and found that the other senators knew nothing about it. Virginia's A. Willis Robertson, Louisiana's Allen Ellender and Arkansas' Bill Fulbright also argued against a special committee.

Finally, Majority Leader Lucas of Illinois wound up the discussion by suggesting that if anybody wanted to revive the small business committee, the thing to do was to draw up a resolution. Montana's Murray started work on this immediately.

Colored Congressman Wins Respect
Illinois' Congressman William Dawson, first Negro committee chairman in congressional history, is proving that he can make Democracy work in the House expenditures committee.

One man who is keenly aware of this is Harry Truman. The day before Dawson's committee reported the reorganization measure for House action, the President told the Chicago Negro:

"I couldn't have asked for better cooperation from your committee on this important legislation. You're doing a great job. Keep it up."

Turning to the committee colleagues who accompanied him, Dawson said: "Thank you, Mr. President, but these gentlemen and others on the committee deserve the credit, not me."

Three outstanding legislators from the south made it a special point to go to the White House with Dawson and support him—Henderson Lanham of Georgia, Porter Harty, Jr., of Virginia and Herbert Bonner of North Carolina. Others who accompanied Dawson were Chet Holifield of California, Frank Karsten of Missouri and House majority leader John McCormack of Massachusetts.

Men like Lanham, Hardy and Bonner have worked with Dawson because they like him personally, respect his ability, and because they have a high regard for the Democratic process of government.

"I think I had a touch of ptomaine poisoning or something," he said shortly afterwards. "It's nothing serious."
